

I oppose the FCC's intent to relax cell phone usage by passengers while aboard aircraft, as it would cause further confusion by compromising flight attendants' ability to maintain order in the event of an emergency. No evidence is available as of yet that cell phone usage onboard an aircraft does not interfere with air traffic communications.

United Airlines Flight Attendant
AFA member